SURREY: Surrey community and family are mourning the tragic loss of a young girl who died in a car crash in Surrey last week. Nineteen-year-old Saniya had arrived in Canada on July 9, 2024. However, her life was cut short on July 11 when she died in the accident on public that a road closure was in effect following a report of a single-vehicle collision on Highway 99, North of King George Blvd, Surrey. The accident took place around 1.30 AM.

Sergeant James Mason of Surrey RCMP said that a woman in her 20's was ejected from the vehicle on the accident scene and was deceased. "Two other occupants were located trapped in the vehicle and later taken to hospital for further assessment. Driver of the vehicle is a 23-year-old man and passenger is a 22-year-old man," Mason said.

Following the accident, the northbound lanes on Highway 99, North of King George Blvd were closed as the investigation was still in the evidence gather stage.

Study and work permits are not an automatic guarantee for PR: Minister Marc Miller

By Surbhi Gogia

A difficult path lies ahead for students and work permit holders hoping to settle permanently in Canada. Immigration Minister Marc Miller recently emphasized that those who arrived on study or work permits were never promised automatic permanent residency (PR), and many may have to make the hard decision of returning home.

During a round table discussion with South Asian media in Surrey, Minister Miller, accompanied by Surrey Newton Liberal MP Sukh Dhaliwal at the Grand Taj Banquet Hall, addressed the nation's pressing immigration issues amidst rising inflation and a housing crisis.

Langley's Jatinder Singh identified as shooting victim near Surrey Home Depot parking lot

Police say that the victim of a shooting that took place last week in the parking lot of Home Depot in Surrey near Strawberry Hill Plaza is 25-year old Jatinder Singh from Langley.

Singh was shot on July 5, 2024, at approximately 5:30 am near the 7300 block of 122 Street near Strawberry Hills in Newton. Surrey RCMP Serious Crimes Unit took conduct of the investigation and determined that this was a targeted, isolated incident.

Singh was transported to hospital but has since died of his injuries. To advance this investigation and identify additional witnesses, the victim's identity was disclosed to public. "Jatinder does not have a criminal record. IHIT can confirm that this shooting was a targeted, isolated incident," said Staff

Sergeant David Lee, of Integrated Homicide Investigation Team (IHIT).

IHIT is working in partnership with the BC Coroners Service, the Integrated Forensic Identification Section, and the Surrey RCMP Detachment. Investigators are completing canvassing in priority areas, contacting associates, and reviewing the collected evidence.

IHIT investigators are looking to speak with the friends and associates of Jatinder Singh. Additionally, anyone with surveillance video, or dash-camera footage in the area of 7300 block of 122 Street on July 5, 2024, between 4:00 am to 6:00 am is being asked to contact the IHIT Information Line at 1-877-551-IHIT (4448) or by email at ihitinfo@rcmp-grc.gc.ca.

Ajastar Singh charged with sexual assault of 15-year-old girl in around Surrey Gurdwara

A Punjabi-origin male has been charged in connection with a sexual assault investigation which began in May 2023.

On May 4, 2023, Surrey RCMP received a report that a 15-year-old female youth had been sexually assaulted at or in the area of the Gurdwara Dukh Nivaran located in the 15200-block of 68 Avenue.

Police later identified the 58-year-old Singh, who was arrested on May 5, 2023. The temple authorities had expressed concern about the incidents and said they were co-operating with the police investigations, however they denied that any such incident of assault took place with in Gurdwara Sahib premises.

The police at that time had said that Singh was an employee at the temple, and the employer had been advised of the allegations and the conditions of his release. Gurdwara's president and caretaker Giani Narinder Singh, at that time issued a video message asking public not to spread rumours about sexual assault incident taking place inside the temple. Singh denied, without revealing the identity of the suspect, that the suspect was a Gurdwara employee. "The person volunteers at the temple like many others. We call someone a Gurdwara's employee if he has sponsorship from us or if he is on a pay roll. The person in question is on a visitor visa and lives with his daughter."

On July 2, 2024, Singh was charged with sexual assault and sexual interference of a person under the age of 16 years.

On July 4, 2024, Ajastar Singh was arrested for the two offences and appeared in court. He was released pending a future court date with multiple conditions, some of which include:

- no contact with children under the age of 16;
- not attending at public areas where children under the age of 16 would likely be present;
- and not engaging in employment or volunteer work that involves working with children under the age of 16.

Man from India arrested for mass groping spree at Moncton water park

An Indian national was arrested in Canada's New Brunswick province after he went on a mass groping spree at a water park in Moncton city.

The man, 25, lives in Halifax, Nova Scotia. In a statement, the Royal Canadian Mounted Police said they responded to a report of sexual interference and sexual assault at a public water park in Moncton on July 7.

"A 25-year-old man originally from India, but residing in Halifax, N.S., has been arrested following sexual assault incidents in Moncton. On July 7, 2024, at approximately 2 p.m., members of the Codiac Regional RCMP responded to a report of sexual interference and sexual assault at a public water park on Mountain Road in Moncton. When police arrived at the scene, they learned that a man had been walking around the premises, and was groping people. There were at least twelve victims, some of whom were under the age of 16.

Police located the individual who was still on the premises, and arrested him without incident. He was later released from custody, and is scheduled to appear in Moncton Provincial Court on October 24

In the meantime, the police are asking people to come forward in case they know anything related to the case.

"We are asking parents to speak to their children if they attended this location on July 7. We also want people to know that a sexual assault complaint can be made at any time. If you are a victim of sexual misconduct, please contact us. You will be listened to, and you will be believed," reads an official release issued by the police.

While the police did not disclose the identity of the accused, images of him getting arrested at the water park are being circulated on social media platforms.

One mother posted his pictures on a Facebook community, warning other parents about him. She wrote, "People beware the guy we encountered at magic mountain is living in Halifax.. bad enough we had to deal with that in Moncton but to find out he's close to home .. watch your kids in pools , beaches , public places , bars whatever because he does not give a fuck about anyone seeing him do this shit make his face known."

Dedaar Jhooty pled guilty to manslaughter in 2021 Whistler stabbing

Dedaar Jhooty appeared in North Vancouver Provincial Court this week and pled guilty to manslaughter in a 2021 stabbing in Whistler Village. On August 14, 2021, Sea to Sky RCMP were called to investigate an altercation that happened near Whistler Village. The victim was waiting for a taxicab with a friend. A verbal altercation ensued between the victim, the friend, and another group of males. The altercation escalated and the victim was stabbed. The victim was transported to hospital where they succumbed to their injuries. The Integrated Homicide Investigation Team (IHIT) took conduct of the investigation.

Investigators were able to identify the victim as Henry Stanley Garcia Molina. Garcia Molina's family appealed for the public's help for information and said in a statement: "Henry's life was taken senselessly in an act of violence while in Whistler Village simply trying to grab a taxi back to his hotel. Henry's life did not deserve to be taken away so brutally. His loss has been the most painful thing that any parent has had to go through. Henry left a positive impact on everyone he has ever met, including all his family members, his friends from school and various sports teams he was a part of. Henry was very involved with the community and admired by many. He was a kind hearted young man who was always willing to help others." Following an investigation, Dedaar Jhooty was identified and on June 23, 2022, was arrested and charged with manslaughter. On July 16, 2024, Dedaar Jhooty appeared in North Vancouver Provincial Court where he pled guilty to manslaughter. The sentencing hearing will be scheduled in the near future. "IHIT is appreciative of the assistance provided by the Whistler RCMP and the Sea to Sky General Investigation Section (GIS). Through strong partnerships with the Integrated Forensic Identification Services (IFIS) and National Forensic Laboratory Service (NFLS), IHIT was able to collect key evidence," said Staff Sergeant David Lee. Additional information will be made available after sentencing.

Investigators were able to identify the victim as Henry Stanley Garcia Molina

BC rejects Dr Bonnie Henry's report advocating selling alternatives to hard drugs users without prescription

A recent report by B.C.'s provincial health officer Dr Bonnie Henry recommends that British Columbia should explore implementing programs that will allow people to obtain certain opioids such as fentanyl without prescription at compassion clubs and even retail stores.

Certain opioids and some other substances are part of BC's Safe Supply Program. In July 2021, the Ministry of Mental Health and Addictions, Ministry of Health, and Office of the Provincial Health Officer released Access to Prescribed Safer Supply in British Columbia: Policy Direction, which enables individuals to access a range of medications through prescription to reduce the risk of drug toxicity death due to accessing the illicit drug supply. The first phase of implementation of this policy allows for the prescribing of certain opioids through regional health authority-run programs and federally funded programs (e.g., SAFER).

BC Centre on Substance Abuse says Prescribed pharmaceutical alternatives is not intended for treatment of substance use disorders but is primarily a harm reduction approach as one strategy for reducing the risks of illicit drug toxicity events and deaths.

Dr Henry has now come out with another report titled ALTERNATIVES TO UNREGULATED DRUGS: ANOTHER STEP IN SAVING LIVES. It advocates expanding this Safe Supply program "beyond the health care system."

The report offers the logic that when these drugs like fentanyl are illegally manufactured, they are adulterated. "When illegally manufactured and distributed, opioids and stimulants such as fentanyl-like drugs, heroin, methamphetamine, and cocaine are mixed with other adulterants such as benzodiazepines and cutting agents such as talc to produce individual doses of drugs that are sold in the unregulated market," says the report. "The composition, contents, and potency of these unregulated drugs are unpredictable, and inherently distinct from pharmaceutical grade opioid and stimulant products that are quality-controlled and manufactured in strictly regulated environments.

She says barriers need to be addressed to continue to scale-up and increase the accessibility of prescription-based programs. "However, experience so far shows that providing access only through the health-care system makes it unlikely that this intervention will reach a large enough proportion of the population at risk to reduce rates of poisonings and deaths. Therefore, it is imperative to explore opportunities for providing access to alternatives beyond the health-care system."

The B.C. NDP government has swiftly rejected this recommendation. Jennifer Whiteside, Minister of Mental Health and Addictions, in a statement said, "Provincial health officer Dr. Bonnie Henry is an important independent voice on public-health issues in this province, and we respect her advice. However, this is a topic we do not agree on. The Province will not go in the direction of compassion clubs and other non-medical models of distributing medications."

The Conservative Party of BC in a press release criticized Dr Henry for advocating such a program. "Dr. Bonnie Henry's support for selling meth and other harmful drugs in government stores is not only shocking but also incredibly irresponsible," said John Rustad, Leader of the Conservative Party of British Columbia. "This approach is not a solution to our drug crisis; it is an endorsement of dangerous substances that have destroyed countless lives and families. Our communities deserve better."

Elenore Sturko, Conservative Party MLA for Surrey South and candidate for Surrey-Cloverdale, echoed Rustad's sentiments. "As someone who has worked on the front lines of public safety, I find Dr. Henry's stance deeply troubling. We should be focused on providing support and treatment for those struggling with addiction, not making it easier for them to access these deadly substances. This policy will only exacerbate the crisis we are facing in our communities.

Premier Eby claims he's not in favour of hard drug legalization, now's the time for him to show he's not lying."

She added, "the recent proposal to offer a range of substances, including methamphetamine, in government-run or private retail spaces is a deeply flawed and dangerous model. The idea that hard drugs could be sold in various formats and compositions, with government-determined pricing, is reckless. This plan, while claiming to support individual agency and independence from medicalized rules, overlooks the severe public health risks and the potential for increased substance abuse. This government would effectively be using taxpayer dollars to subsidize drug trafficking and there's no oversight to where the drugs go after they're sold."

Fraser Health warns public about risks associated with Ayurvedic medicines and opium products

Fraser Health is warning the public about risks associated with Ayurvedic medicines and opium products that may be contaminated with heavy metals, such as lead, mercury, arsenic and other toxins following two recent cases of lead poisoning likely associated with consuming Ayurvedic medicines or opium-containing products.

“Ayurveda emphasizes good health and prevention and treatment of illness through lifestyle practices (such as massage, meditation, yoga, and dietary changes) and the use of herbal remedies. Ayurvedic herbal medicines, like conventional medicines, may cause side effects, trigger allergic reactions, or interact with other medicines or herbs you are taking. Some Ayurvedic medicines may contain high levels of heavy metals, which may be harmful to your body,” said a press release by Fraser Health.

These opium-containing products are commonly used by some South Asian populations and are prepared directly from the poppy plant (called doda and afeem). Doda is a powder and usually dissolved in liquid and consumed orally.

Fraser Health and the BC Centre for Disease Control collaboratively investigate cases of elevated blood lead levels to determine possible sources of lead poisoning. Cases of lead poisoning are rare and there are actions you can take to reduce your risk. If you are consuming opium-containing products prepared directly from the poppy plant (including doda and afeem) or other Ayurvedic products, it can be very difficult to tell if products may be contaminated with lead by looking at them. If the product has a label, look for a Natural Product Number (NPN) to find out whether the product is registered with Health Canada. If you are using a product without an NPN, or using doda or afeem, you can talk to your health care provider about other options. Choosing products that are registered with Health Canada under the Natural Health Product Regulation reduces risks because it provides oversight of quality, traceability, and recommended use.

If you or someone you know are using these products, it is recommended to monitor for symptoms of lead poisoning. Symptoms of lead poisoning may be hard to differentiate from other health problems:

- Mild symptoms include fatigue, irritability, headache, muscle pain, abdominal discomfort or pain, constipation, vomiting and tremor.
- Severe symptoms include severe abdominal pain, seizure, reduced consciousness, numbness and very weak muscles.
- Long-term use of products containing high levels of lead can lead to chronic exposure.

More information on lead exposure can be found at Lead Poisoning | HealthLink

BC

If you experience any symptoms of lead poisoning or other unexpected side effects, seek medical attention, and call the BC Drug and Poison Information Centre at 604-682-5050 or 1-800-567-8911. Your health care provider will assess whether you need blood lead testing. Do not throw out the product. Store it in a secure place in case Public Health needs to submit it for testing.

Like all opioids, using opium products can put you at risk for opioid overdose. Care should be taken to prevent overdoses. Use with others and get a naloxone kit – find naloxone kits here: <https://towardtheheart.com/site-finder>.

Detailed information on lead exposure can be found here: <http://www.bccdc.ca/resource-gallery/Documents/Guidelines%20and%20Forms/Guidelines%20and%20Manuals/Health-Environment/Lead%20Exposure%20%20Information%20Resource.pdf>.

One dead following collision on 144th Street and 62nd Avenue

On July 14th, 2024, at approximately 04:38 a.m., Surrey RCMP received a report of a two-vehicle collision in the 6200 block of 144th Street. Despite lifesaving efforts, one person was declared deceased at the scene.

The Surrey RCMP Criminal Collision Investigation Team (CCIT) was on scene and the Integrated Collision Analysis and Reconstruction Service (ICARS) was called out. The investigation is in the early stages and investigators are working to identify all factors that led to this fatality.

The police informed that 144th Street is closed both north and south between 63A Avenue and 61A Avenue. Traffic in the surrounding areas was impacted and drivers could expect significant delays. Anyone who witnessed the collision or has dash camera footage from the area is asked to contact the Surrey RCMP at 604-599-0502.

Long-term developments coming along Scott Road and 72 Avenue

Surrey City Council has endorsed the Imagine Scott Road Visioning Study, a comprehensive planning framework that will guide the long-term development along Scott Road and 72 Avenue. The study outlines a vision for the area's growth, including increased density, community amenities, and environmental sustainability.

"The Imagine Scott Road Visioning Study is an important step forward for our city," said Mayor Brenda Locke. "With the introduction of RapidBus along this route, a framework was needed to guide longer-term land use planning along the transit corridor, which is one of the busiest in the region. This plan will not only improve the daily lives of our residents and commuters, but also pave the way for the creation of new homes and vibrant neighborhoods, meeting the growing demands of our rapidly expanding city. I'm proud of the work that our staff has done to engage with the community and develop a plan that reflects their input."

In all, the area includes approximately 8.44 square kilometers of land at the northeast boundary of Surrey, within the communities of Whalley and Newton. It is roughly bounded by the South Westminster Neighbourhood Concept Plan area to the north (along River Road and 104 Avenue), 124 Street/the Newton Town Centre Plan area to the east (along 134 Street), 68 Avenue to the south, and the City of Delta to the west. The area is home to over 41,000 people and is expected to grow in the coming years. The study recommends increasing density in the area, while also protecting environmental resources and promoting community amenities. The study was developed through a comprehensive planning process that included background studies, technical analysis, and community engagement. Over 29,000 residents were informed through social media posts, direct mailouts, and other engagement activities. The plan includes three future neighbourhood plans: Townline (north), Kennedy (central), and Strawberry Hill (south). The plan also recommends adjustments to Community Amenity Contributions to ensure rate parity along the corridor. The study has identified three future NCP areas in which more detailed planning work will occur, including the areas around the Scottsdale Bus Exchange TOA. Staff will report back to Council prior to the initiation of future NCPs along the Corridor. With Council's endorsement, proposed zoning amendments will proceed to Public Hearing. For more information on the Imagine Scott Road Visioning Study, go to <https://www.surrey.ca/renovating-building-development/land-planning-development/land-use-planning/newton-land-use-plans/Imagine-Scott-Road>.

Tragic trend of fatal crashes: Surrey Car...

Police said that preliminary investigation indicates speed may have been a factor.

The police have not yet disclosed the identity of the victim. Local community member and media person Baljinder Bhandal identified her as Saniya an International Student from Burari, Delhi. Bhandal runs a not-for-profit group that helps international students. While talking to The Link, she said she was speaking on behalf of Saniya's parents who are currently devastated. Bhandal has created a GoFundMe Page to raise funds and send her body back to India. "We are now faced with the heart-wrenching task of bringing her body back to India so she can rest in peace among her loved ones. The costs associated with this are overwhelming, and our family has already exhausted our savings to send her to Canada," mentioned the GoFundMe page.

Bhandal is reaching out to the community for support. "We are reaching out to you, our friends, family, and kind-hearted strangers, for support. Any contribution, no matter how small, will help us cover the expenses of sending Saniya's body back to India and providing her with a proper farewell."

Saniya's death is another reminder for all those out there on roads with reckless driving. Saniya was not the only person who met with the ill fate last week. The BC highway patrols and various police departments in BC reported multiple accidents on the roads of BC. These were not just accidents, they were fatal that did not spare old, young or even the infants.

BC Coroner's Service reported that between Friday, July 5, and Wednesday, July 10, 2024, there were 19 accidental motor-vehicle-related deaths reported to the BC Coroners Service (BCCS). Twelve of those deaths occurred during three incidents reported in the Interior Health Authority. "This week has been marked by several fatal motor vehicle incidents on highways throughout British Columbia," said a release from the Coroner's Service. We extend our condolences to all affected by these tragedies. We know there are far-reaching impacts, as family and friends across the province, and beyond, mourn the loss of their loved ones," said John

There are ways to reduce the risk of a collision, and the BC Coroners Service is encouraging drivers to plan ahead. Tips for a safer trip include:

- knowing your route and allowing time for possible delays because of increased traffic volume or construction;
- wearing seatbelts, obeying posted speed limits and driving to road conditions; and
- avoiding distracted driving and focusing on the road ahead. Also, don't drink alcohol or consume drugs or other substances that could alter decision making and/or reaction time. BCCS statistics from 2013-2021 indicate that alcohol and/or drugs were a factor in 33% of MVI deaths. Alcohol and drug-related data is not yet available for more recent years. The coroner's investigations into the deaths of those involved in collisions this week are ongoing and no further details may be shared until they have been completed.

McNamee, acting chief coroner. "While so many of us look forward to summer trips, unfortunately, statistics show the risk of deadly motor-vehicle crashes is much greater in July, August and September." According to the latest available data from the Coroners Service, there were 331 motor-vehicle incident (MVI) deaths in B.C in 2023. Of those deaths, 45 occurred in July, 32 in August and 33 in September. Between 2013 and 2023, more than one-third of MVI deaths were reported to have happened on roadways in the Interior Health region and a quarter in the Fraser Health region.

Canada never promised permanent residency to Students and Work Permit Holders...

In his opening remarks, Miller highlighted that Canada boasts one of the world's premier immigration systems to attract and retain talent.

Miller stressed that immigration remains a significant topic for Canadians, attracting both support and scrutiny. While Canada is a top destination for many seeking a new life or refuge, he noted the need to balance the influx of temporary residents with economic opportunities for those already here.

In response to growing pressure on the Federal government due to inflation and the housing crisis, changes were made this year to the immigration programs. Along with introducing a cap on immigration targets, Canada also implemented stricter rules for international students and work permit programs.

Those with PR or who have lived in Canada for a long time welcomed the changes, hoping to alleviate pressure on housing and provide more job opportunities for Canadians. However, the new regulations have significantly impacted those waiting for their PR while on work permits or international students, particularly from India.

Miller pointed out that many unscrupulous actors had abused the immigration system by falsely promising PR after work permits. Some institutions have increased their intakes significantly to boost revenues, leading to an influx of students arriving in Canada without the necessary support systems in place. The rapid increase in international students has strained housing, healthcare, and other services. "As we work to better protect international students from bad actors and support sustainable population growth in Canada, the government introduced measures to stabilize the number of international students in Canada," Miller stated.

He informed that the federal government is currently in discussions with provincial partners to reduce temporary residents from 7% to 5%. "That includes considering the number of international students we welcome and the number of Post-Graduation Work Permits (PGWP) awarded. There will be adjustments and turbulence over the next few years for the international students' program," he noted. The drawback will be a labor market shortage. Media representatives suggested retaining those already in Canada who are contributing to the economy, especially those who have come from difficult economic circumstances back home. Minister Miller reiterated that the purpose of study and work permits is for people to gain specific skills and education.

Miller highlighted this approach in a recent interview with Bloomberg too. Although Canada has for years used universities and colleges to bring in educated, working-age immigrants, study visas shouldn't imply a guarantee of future residency or citizenship, he said. "That should never be the promise. People should be coming here to educate themselves and perhaps go home and bring those skills back to their country," he said. Another key discussion during the conference was about people with criminal backgrounds entering Canada amidst rising cases of extortion. Minister Miller acknowledged that it is naive to assume all screenings catch every offender. "I will not speak about national security investigations publicly, as it would be irresponsible. But when someone applies for a visa, they undergo rigorous screening, including biometrics. However, some individuals still manage to enter the country and commit crimes. Despite having stringent requirements, no system is perfect."

Miller emphasized the importance of police certificates but acknowledged their unreliability depending on the country of origin. "Well-determined actors can get around even the strictest requirements. This is a reality not only in Canada but also in the U.S. We must continually improve and adapt our methods to catch these individuals. Our primary job is to keep Canadians safe from criminality, whether homegrown or international," he concluded.

Surrey offers free disposal services to help combat illegal dumping Illegal dumping costs the City of Surrey approximately $750,000 annually, which could be better spent on community amenities and services. In 2023, there were 7,570 illegal dumping sites recorded. To combat the issue, the City is continuing with two-week Clean-Up Blitzes across the city and is enhancing patrols and enforcement. Residents are also encouraged to take advantage of the Free Waste Drop-off Program underway and the Large Item Pickup Program. "Illegal dumping is not only costly, but also harmful to our environment and our community's well-being," said Mayor Brenda Locke. "By taking advantage of our free disposal services and reporting illegal dumping, we can work together to reduce the financial burden on our city and create a safe and welcoming environment for everyone. Let's all do our part and rethink waste – for a cleaner, greener Surrey."

Free Disposal Options for Residents

-Large Item Pickup Program: Schedule

up to six free pickups per year (eight for registered secondary suites). Book online at surrey.ca/largeitems or call 604-590-7289 (press 3).

-Free Waste Drop-off: Drop off up to 100kg of waste and four mattresses for free at Metro Vancouver's Central Surrey and North Surrey Recycling and Waste Centres until September 25. Learn more at surrey.ca/wastecentres.

City Efforts

-Seasonal Clean-up Blitzes: During the two-week Spring Clean-Up Blitz, 1,598 trash bags of litter and 1,833 illegally dumped items were cleaned up across Surrey. The next one is scheduled for later this summer.

-Increased Enforcement: Patrols and surveillance cameras are being used to stop illegal dumping with fines of up to $10,000.

The City of Surrey is asking residents to do their part in maintaining a clean, safe, and beautiful community. For more information, visit surrey.ca/illegaldumping.

City reports progress on Housing Action Plan in Surrey

The City of Surrey is reporting significant progress in achieving its goals in the Housing Action Plan in its semi-annual Housing Accelerator Fund (HAF) progress report. In December 2023 the City received approval for $95.6M dollars from the Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation (CMHC) to provide financial incentives to remove barriers to housing supply, accelerate growth, and support community development over the next three years. The progress report comes six months into this three-year project. "Increasing housing supply and removing barriers to housing are a top priority as more people move to Surrey," said Mayor Brenda Locke. "I'm proud of the progress we've made and we continue to work to address housing challenges to support our community. We are committed to creating housing options that are inclusive and sustainable. As the City works quickly to meet the growing demand, it is crucial that the Province also prioritizes funding for critical infrastructure that will support the influx of new residents, including schools, healthcare facilities, and public transportation systems that are essential to the well-being and quality of life for all Surrey residents." As of May 2024, the City has issued approvals for 5,200 net new dwellings, surpassing the expected annual average. Several enhancements have been initiated from the HAF Action including: Updates to the Development Cost Charges exemptions for affordable housing projects; launch of the Development Inquiry Assistant (DIA), an artificial intelligence tool designed to provide users with general information about the permitting process; and Initiation of the Rapid Transit Incentive Program and Non-Market Rental Incentive Program. Serious collision on Hwy 17 at 136th Street in Surrey sends 2 to hospital

On July 16th, 2024, at approximately 8:10 pm, Surrey RCMP received a report of a two-vehicle collision involving two tractor trailers at the intersection of 136th Street and Hwy 17. Both drivers were transported to local area hospital. The investigation is in the early stages and investigators are working to identify all factors that led to this collision. Hwy 17 was closed both east and westbound between Bridgeview and 104th Avenue. Traffic in the surrounding areas was impacted and drivers faced significant delays. Anyone who witnessed the collision or has dash camera footage from the area is asked to contact the Surrey RCMP at 604-599-0502.

BC introduces Quality assurance code for higher education institutes serving international students

VICTORIA, BC: As part of education reforms for higher education institutes, BC is introducing new protections for international students by setting higher standards and more rigorous requirements for institutions enrolling international students.

Among these protections is a new Education Quality Assurance (EQA) code of practice, which will require institutions to meet higher standards for student support and protection in order to be eligible to enrol international students.

The second phase of the International Education Framework builds on measures introduced in January 2024, which paused the growth of institutions offering international education.

Changes to the Province's Education Quality Assurance (EQA) designation, which all post-secondary institutions must hold to enrol international students, include requiring institutions deliver at least 50% of the program in person to international students;

The institutes will be required to having appropriate locations controlled by the institution and have staff to support international students; and ensuring compliance with Immigration, Refugees and Citizenship Canada reporting.

The new EQA code of practice that EQA-designated institutions must agree to improves protections for students by requiring clear and accurate marketing and promotional information, accountability for education agents, tuition transparency, housing assistance, academic supports, and student health and safety.

Not abiding by the code of practice could result in an institution losing its EQA designation and no longer being able to accept international students.

"We welcome international students to B.C. and we want them to have a great experience when they arrive here, anchored by quality education and supports that are meaningful, relevant and will set them up for further success," said Lisa Beare, Minister of Post-Secondary Education and Future Skills. "That's why we are building on the enhancements we made in January to ensure that international students coming to B.C. are successful, supported and protected."

Private degree-granting institutions will see changes, including:

- * labour market alignment for degree programs;

- * requirements that institutions manage enrolment in a manner appropriate for their infrastructure, student resources and services;

- * increased fees for existing application fees and fees for the conduct of review; and

- * an additional annual fee for private and out-of-province degree-granting institutions.

Lisa Beare

Minister of Post-Secondary Education

New measures for private training institutions will set a higher bar to be designated under the Private Training Act (PTA), including:

- * requiring greater program content standards;

- * improving protections for students at private training institutions, including:

- * more generous refund policies;
- * shorter maximum terms on contracts; and

- * banning high-pressure sales.

- * increased fees for institutions regulated under the PTA will help expand the Province's capacity to regulate and enforce higher standards; and

- * prohibiting high-pressure sales and recruitment tactics.

"Our commitment is clear: we're dedicated to upholding the integrity of B.C.'s education sector and protecting international students," said Ravi Parmar, Parliamentary Secretary for International Credentials. "I want international students to know that we've got their back."

The new measures include guidelines for public institutions, as well as targeted measures for private institutions.

Some of the guidelines issued for public institutions include:

- * limiting international enrolment to 30% of an institution's total enrolment;

- * providing tuition-fee transparency to prevent unexpected international student fee increases; and

- * requiring the development of new international education strategic plans, improved student services, housing supports, and standards to ensure Indigenous and domestic students are not displaced.

The EQA designation certifies that institutions meet or exceed the institutional quality assurance standards set by the Province and is required for all public and private institutions enrolling international students.

"International students come to British Columbia hoping for a great education experience and many hope to enter the workforce after they complete their studies," says Prince Solanki, an international student from Camosun College and external executive with the student society. "Ensuring students have access to a range of services and supports along the way is critical to ensuring they succeed and thrive."

Door knock pranks in Surrey result in property damage

The communities of Newton and South Surrey have become subject to an ongoing social media inspired frenzy of door knock pranks. The decades old prank, known as nicky nicky nine doors or ding door ditch has devolved into cases of harassment and mischief.

Surrey RCMP Community Response Unit is investigating a series of door knock pranks, as multiple residences have sustained damage. An ongoing investigation has resulted in the identification of some pranksters, as police are now seeking potential criminal charges. Those that have been identified are all in their teens. Parents are encouraged to speaking with their teens about the potential repercussion in acts such as this.

While this type of behaviour may not have started with malicious intent, the observed behavior of these individuals speaks to a complete lack of regard for the prank recipients and their property, says Sgt James Mason, Surrey RCMP Media Relations Officer. If the goal is to make yourself known, you may get more than you bargained for.

Safety Tips:

-If you observe this type of behaviour, or become a victim of this behaviour, call the Surrey RCMP non-emergency immediately

-If you are a victim of this behaviour, remain indoors and do not confront the suspects involved

-Video surveillance can assist police in identifying suspects and support court evidence

-A well-lit entranceway and front door may not prevent, but may deter this type of behaviour. If you have been the victim of one of these instances, you can reach out to the Surrey RCMP by calling the non-emergency line 604-599-0502.

Wanted offender Jagmohanjit Jheety from Saskatchewan arrested

Police in Ontario arrested a man with ties to Saskatchewan and Brampton wanted in connection with an Intimate Partner Violence investigation.

On Thursday, May 30, 2024, a Canada-wide warrant was issued for Jagmohanjit Jheety, a 47-year-old man from Saskatchewan for the Criminal Code Offences like criminal harassment, uttering Death Threats.

Detectives had reason to believe that Jagmohanjit was in the Region of Peel and may have access to firearms and other weapons.

On Saturday, July 13, 2024, investigators located Jheety in Brampton and arrested him for his outstanding warrant. He was additionally charged for unauthorized Possession of a Firearm and attempted Murder. He was held pending a bail hearing.

Anyone with information on this investigation is asked to contact the Peel Regional Police IPV Unit at 905-453-2121, extension 4990.

Diljit Dosanjh gets surprise visit from PM Trudeau ahead of sold-out concert

Punjabi actor-singer Diljit Dosanjh had a special guest during the rehearsals of his concert as Canada's Prime Minister Justin Trudeau dropped at his "sold-out" show in Rogers Centre, a stadium in Downtown Toronto, Ontario.

In a video, Diljit is seen greeting PM Trudeau with folded hands.

Sharing the video, the singer wrote, "Diversity is Canada's strength. Prime Minister @justinpjtrudeau came to check out history in the making: we sold out the Rogers Centre!"

As soon as the video was shared, fans and industry friends chimed in the comment section.

Singer Harshdeep Kaur wrote, "Legend." One of the users wrote, "@diljitdosanjh thank you for representing each one of us on this level."

Impressed by Diljit Dosanjh's presence in the country, the Canadian PM took to X handle and shared pictures from his visit to the venue where the singer performed live.

He captioned the post, which read, "Stopped by the Rogers Centre to wish @diljitdosanjh good luck before his show. Canada is a great country -- one where a guy from Punjab can make history and sell out stadiums. Diversity isn't just our strength. It's a super power."

However, PM Trudeau's post on X about the encounter got backlash in India when he referred to Dosanjh as "a guy from Punjab". People asked why the Canadian PM didn't refer to Dosanjh as an Indian artist. BJP's Manjinder Singh Sirsa criticised Trudeau for calling Diljit Dosanjh a "Punjabi singer" instead of an "Indian singer" in a social media post, accusing Trudeau of "deliberate mischief through wordplay".

"Let me correct this, Mr Prime Minister -- where one guy from INDIA can make history and sell out stadiums," Sirsa wrote. "Your gesture of lauding a fantastic artist like Diljit has been totally overshadowed by your deliberate mischief through wordplay," Sirsa added.

The backlash against Trudeau's post comes amid strained relations between India and Canada.

BC Conservative leader reveals new 'Patients First' healthcare plan

BC Conservative Party led by John Rustad has revealed the party's plan healthcare system in BC which will be launched if he becomes premier in the upcoming provincial elections.

The proposed plan aim to expand access, reduce wait times, and support frontline staff while creating a transparent and accountable system.

"Our healthcare system is in crisis, and it's time for a change," Rustad stated. "British Columbians deserve timely access to quality care without the endless waits and bureaucratic red tape. Our plan puts patients first, ensuring they receive the care they need when they need it."

The New 'Patients First' Model will have Universal healthcare for everyone under a single-payer system that delivers care through both public and non-governmental facilities.

The plan aims to implement a Patient-Based Funding Model, giving patients the choice to access care sooner. "Germany has twice the population of Canada, yet we have 10 times as many health administrators. We will reduce red tape and direct funding to patients delivered by the front lines where it matters most. This includes Increasing hiring of nurses, doctors, specialists, and other healthcare professionals," Rustad said.

Additionally, the Patients First plan says it would prioritize hiring of nurses, doctors, specialists, and other healthcare professionals. "Reinstate healthcare workers who are currently out-of-work due to personal health care decisions and expand programs to incentivize doctors and nurses to work in high-need communities."

"Part of our larger plan to re-criminalize hard drugs, we will be increasing security to prevent illicit drug use in emergency rooms and hospitals," said Rustad.

"CIHI data shows that wait times for priority surgery procedures have worsened over the past decade under the current government and over 180 ER closures have been reported throughout BC in 2024 alone," Rustad continued.

Anita Kaur Atwal appointed First New Integrity Commissioner of Maple Ridge

MAPLE RIDGE, BC: The City Council has appointed Anita Kaur Atwal as the City of Maple Ridge's new independent Integrity Commissioner. The appointment comes after Council adopted a new Code of Conduct Bylaw in January 2024 which outlines clear expectations for ethical behaviour among elected officials. This was in response to Council's request to thoroughly review the previous outdated bylaw and that an impartial third party should conduct Council investigations. The Integrity Commissioner will be responsible for providing advice to Council members and conducting investigations under the Bylaw. "Appointing our first-ever Integrity Commissioner is a significant step forward for Maple Ridge – demonstrating our dedication to maintaining an open and honest government," said Mayor Ruimy. "We are pleased to welcome

Anita Atwal to the City and confident that her role will be pivotal in fostering trust with our residents and the professional conduct they expect from Council." Atwal, selected following a competitive process, brings a wealth of experience to this role as the principal of Anita Atwal Law (AAL), a firm specializing in investigations, mediations, training, governance, and organizational support. "Atwal has been practicing law for over 18 years, servicing both the private and public sectors. She brings significant experience implementing and applying codes of conduct, conducting investigations, and advising on inclusive and respectful workplaces. She is also a Chartered Professional in Human Resources, as well as a trained mediator, having received her training from the Harvard Law School Program on Negotiation. In addition, Ms. Atwal has been recognized for her leadership in the legal profession, having recently been awarded the Canadian Bar Association of B.C.'s Award for Equality and Diversity," said a press release by the City. "I am honoured to work with the City of Maple Ridge as its new Integrity Commissioner," said Atwal. "I am committed to working with Council to ensure that our elected officials maintain the highest standards of ethical conduct. My goal is to build on the culture of respect, integrity, transparency, and accountability at the City, which are key priorities for this Council." The appointment is for a two-year term ending June 30, 2026. As an independent officer.

I'll spend less time in traffic.

We're updating the Official Community Plan (OCP) which guides the City's long-term growth and development. Help shape the plan.

Senior Couple with Outstanding Community Service Honored with Prestigious Queen Elizabeth II Platinum Jubilee Award

By Zile Singh

Winning an award is always a special moment. It is more special when a super senior wins it. Here is an extraordinary example of when a super senior couple made it.

Who says that Seniors are not Silver, Gold, Diamond and Platinum? They are all in one. It was proved when Mr. Manjit Dhillon, Vice President of the Sunset Indo-Canadian Seniors' Society Vancouver and his better half Mrs. Harjit Dhillon were awarded with the Queen Elizabeth-II Platinum Jubilee Award last week. The sequence of the jubilee/anniversary is like this:- the 25th year is called the Silver, the 50th as the Golden, the 60th as the Diamond and the 70th as the Platinum Jubilee.

This award is a commemorative certificate and medal that were created to mark the 70th anniversary of Her late Majesty Queen Elizabeth II's accession to the Throne as Queen of the United Kingdom, Canada, and many other countries. Her accession took place in 1952. Around 8251 guests from 129 nations and territories attended the Coronation ceremony at Westminster Abbey.

Who is entitled to the Platinum Jubilee Award? In addition to members of the Armed Forces, this award is bestowed upon the members of the Emergency Services and some selected public service organizations and individuals for their exemplary and dedicated services.

Mr. Dhillon came to Canada in 1948 at age 18 from Punjab (India). Ms. Dhillon came here in 1955 at age 17. They got married the same year in Vancouver. Mr. Manjit worked in a lumber mill. He retired in 1995 as a Supervisor. Their ancestors Sardar Naranjan Singh, Gurdev Singh (Manjit's grandfather and father) and Mula Singh (Harjit's father) took active part in the Gadar Movement to get India freedom from the British rule.

The couple imbibed their patriotic spirit from an early age from their parents. In addition to raising their one son and two daughters, they have been taking an active part in Societies like, Khalsa Diwan Society, Sunset Indo-Canadian Seniors' Society, India Mahila Association, Sexsmith Elementary School, Vancouver General Hospital, Asian Senior Women's Society and South Vancouver Neighbourhood Association.

Manjit recites his father's patriotic poems every Thursday at Seniors' gathering. Harjit is an eloquent public speaker, especially on women's rights. The couple has a keen interest in gardening. In summer months their garden stands blooming. Their son is a good basketball player and daughter volunteers for South Vancouver Neighbourhood.

The Sunset Indo-Canadian Seniors' Society thanks Hon'ble Harjeet Sajjan, MP for recommending their names for this prestigious award. "Carry out a random act of kindness, with no expectation of reward, safe in the knowledge that one day someone might do the same for you." – Princess Diana

Aircraft crash and fire results in two fatalities

An aircraft crash and fire in Tofino resulted in the deaths of two people and serious injuries to a third.

On July 18, 2024, at 12:48 p.m., the Tofino RCMP received a report of a plane crash on a runway at the Long Beach Airport. Information is limited at this time but it appears that a small 6-seat aircraft may have suffered an engine fire during takeoff. One occupant was pulled from the plane and is being transported to hospital with serious injuries. The two other occupants have tragically died at the scene.

The Tofino RCMP is working with the Transportation Safety Board and BC Coroners Service to determine the causal factors of this incident.

Anyone with any information is asked to contact the Tofino RCMP at 250-670-9612.

Community Rallies for a Cause: Over $65,000 Raised for Guru Nanak Free Kitchen

By Balwant Sanghera

Sunday, July 14 was ideal for walking and running in Metro Vancouver. Volunteers and community members raised money for Guru Nanak Free Kitchen (GNFK). More than 300 people came out to walk, run and bike to raise more than $65,000 for GNFK.

day of celebrating, sharing and helping those in need. Sahdra stated that GNFK is a registered charity focused on making a positive impact on the residents of Vancouver's Downtown Eastside (DTES). The proceeds from these runs go towards the operation of GNFK and the building of a new facility in downtown Vancouver. This new facility is expected to be ready by the

The participants included over 100 cyclists doing 100 kilometers each, over 40 cyclists doing 60 Kilometers each and 150 people doing the 5 km and 10km walks in this Fourth Annual Bike and Walkathon run. The youngest participant was 5 years old whereas the oldest was 78.

India Cultural Centre of Canada Gurdwara management and Sangat provided refreshments to the participants as they arrived at Gurdwara Nanak Niwas on their way to other rest stops. These participants were raising money for the cause.

According to GNFK spokesperson Surinder Sahdra, since its inception in 2006, this charity has provided over one million free, warm and nutritious vegetarian meals to those in need.

The bike and walkathon runs unite community members of all backgrounds, regardless of religion, gender, or age. This special event is a end of 2024. Once ready, it will enhance services and enable the GNFK to provide Langar seven days a week to those in need.

With the money raised through these Bike and Walkathons, GNFK provides thousands of toys and clothing to children and the needy. This organization embodies the Sikh principle of Sarbat Da Bhala (well-being of all).

With this objective in mind GNFK, in addition to the DTES, also serves those in need throughout the Lower Mainland. Its motto is: Love All. Feed All. This is a very noble cause. These dedicated volunteers have been doing an excellent job in helping those who need their help the most. Gurdwara Nanak Niwas management and Sangat are honoured to support GNFK in its mission.

2024 Mazda CX-90 PHEV – Seats Seven or Eight in Style.

Review By Veenoo Dewan

For 2024 the Mazda CX-90 SUV. The large three-row crossover can seat eight occupants and represents the company's new flagship vehicle. For now, it is the only electrified three-row crossover on the market available. The body is designed to be sleek with crafted curves and a typical Mazda design language. Discreet chrome trim is tasteful and spare. The CX-90 rides on available 21-inch diamond-cut wheels that feature a slick well integrated black metallic finish. It is features the typically sensuous, sculpted sleek looking Mazda design language Mazda fans love so much. There are three powertrains for buyers to choose from. The base CX-90 Turbo as tested has the 280-horsepower, turbo-charged 3.3-liter inline six-cylinder engine with a 48-volt Mild-hybrid Boost and i-stop setup. The PHEV (plug-in hybrid) model as tested combines a 2.5-liter four-cylinder engine, an electric motor, and a 17.8-kilowatt-hour battery, for a total system output of 323 hp. The most powerful version is the Turbo S, which uses the same basic engine as the Turbo but bumped up to 340 hp, giving it the most horsepower and torque of any production engine from Mazda. All three versions put the power to the road through an eight-speed automatic transmission and all-wheel drive. The three-row SUV can be configured to carry six, seven, or eight occupants. Mazda rates the CX-90 PHEV with a up to 42 km of pure electric range or you can cleverly "store" the charge for later use. Charging times for the battery come in at 1.3 hours on a Level 2 plug; and 6.4 hours via Level 1. The 2024 Mazda CX-90 has a starting entry-level MSRP of $45,900 to $64,335. The GS, DS-L and GT version features a 280 horsepower er 3.3L e-SKYACTIV engine with 332 lb-ft torque. The signature edition meanwhile adds front and rear parking sensors, a 360-degree camera, driver attention alert, automatic emergency rear braking, and traffic jam assist. The Signature also appoints luxury touches like exclusive Nappa leather-trimmed seating and other enhancements.

The CX-90's cabin design has a luxury premium feel. High quality materials, such as Nappa leather, wood, and tone-on-tone fabrics that all come together harmoniously. Top line Signature models have an even more premium look and feel with unique Japanese Kumihimo stitching using negative space to create a unique design ethos. There is room for up to eight passengers. Opt for the second-row captain's chairs and the total seating drops to seven.

New, advanced technologies and amenities enhancements include such features as an optional 10.3- or larger 12.3-inch infotainment display controlled via a click wheel on the CX-90's center console, which is more intuitive to use, Apple CarPlay and Android Auto are both standard. The CX-90 offers a 12-speaker Bose premium stereo. available third-row USB-C charging ports, air conditioning vents, and upgraded interior lighting, are among many more features.

The safety suite is good. Mazda CX-90 gets smart brake support front, blind spot monitoring, rear cross-traffic alert, adaptive cruise with stop and go, lane keep assist, and road departure protection standard across the board. Mazda has also introduced a new Driver Personalization

System that uses cameras to ID your face and switch dozens of functions to your setting. Great for a family ride that sees multiple drivers.

On the road – ride and handling is stand out thanks to Mazda Kinematic Posture Control, which suppresses body lift on tight corners to enhance the grip and allows all occupants to maintain a natural posture. The steering is responsive, and despite its size and weight, the CX-90 is fairly agile. Fuel ratings are 9.9 L/100 km city; 8.7 highway; and 9.4 combined. The CX-90 also has a good towing ability at up to 5,000 lbs.

To sum up, the 2024 CX 90 is an attractive proposition, with a PHEV version offering decent fuel economy, all electric range for urban and city driving up to three rows of seats and eight seating capacity- what's not to love? A must buy if you need maximum people carrying ability and comes highly recommended.

2024 Mazda CX-90.GT Price as tested $66,6955 with Options, Freight and PDE. More info at www.mazda.ca

Harmeet Dhillon performs 'ardas' at Republican National Convention

An Indian-American lawyer and a former Republican Vice Chairperson, Harmeet Dhillon, performed the Ardas, a Sikh prayer in the presence of former US President Donald Trump at the Republican National Convention. Slamming the attack on Trump as 'heinous', Dhillon said that the attack made everyone seek comfort and answers. "Thank you, everyone. These last 48 hours have been some of the most intense, yet most prayerful of our lives... I come from a family of Sikh immigrants. I am honoured to share with you, my fellow Republicans and guests tonight, a prayer from my faith tradition practised by over 25 million worldwide. To show respect, we cover our heads when we pray." Hailing from a family of Sikh immigrants, Dhillon recited the 'Ardas'- a prayer to seek God's protection. She was seen covering her head as a mark of respect before her recital. "We recite the Ardas prayer before any new endeavour, giving thanks to God and asking for his protection and help to uphold the values of humility, truth, courage, service, and justice for all," she said.

17-year-old held after UK gurdwara attack

A 17-year-old boy remains in custody after two women were injured in a suspected religiously aggravated incident involving a "bladed weapon" at a gurdwara in Kent, England, local police said. Kent Police said its officers were called to Sri Guru Nanak Darbar Gurdwara on Thursday evening to investigate reports that a man had entered the place of worship and attempted to assault members of the gathering. The gurdwara, among the largest in Europe, said Guru Granth Sahib was not present in the Darbar Hall at the time of the incident. "It was reported that a man had entered the location and attempted to assault those in attendance whilst armed with a bladed weapon. Nobody was seriously injured during the incident but two women required medical attention for cuts and bruises," Kent Police said in a statement. The officers arrested the teenage boy on suspicion of attempted murder and a religiously aggravated public order offence. According to the gurdwara's management team, the suspect was spotted by its security team and police were called immediately.

Akal Takht summons Akali Dal chief Sukhbir Badal

The Akal Takht, the highest temporal seat of the Sikh religion, on Monday summoned Shiromani Akali Dal (SAD) President Sukhbir Badal to appear before it within 15 days and submit his reply to the allegations levelled by a group of Akali leaders against him. A decision in this regard was taken at a meeting of the five High Priests led by Akal Takht Jathedar Giani Raghbir Singh in Amritsar. The summoning of Badal comes in the wake of rebel Akali leaders who sought an apology from the Akal Takht Jathedar for sacrilege incidents during the Akali Dal's 10-year stint in Punjab from 2007. The incidents comprise hurting religious sentiments of the Sikh community by self-styled godman and Dera Sacha Sauda chief Gurmeet Ram Rahim Singh by allegedly performing an imitation of Guru Gobind

Singh at the sect's dera in 2007 and sacrilege of the Guru Granth Sahib in 2015. After facing defeat in the parliamentary polls, the rebels, comprising former MP Prem Singh Chandumajra, former Shiromani Gurdwara Parbandhak Committee (SGPC) Chief Bibi Jagir Kaur, and former minister Parminder Singh Dhindsa, on July 1 appealed to Giani Raghbir Singh that they "are ready to face any punishment that the Akal Takht may deem appropriate". In a letter to the Akal Takht Jathedar, they "admitted guilt" over the "mistakes committed" by the party leadership that have "hurt" the Sikh Panth. The letter had claimed that Sukhbir Badal, now Akali Dal chief, allegedly used his influence to pardon the Dera Sacha Sauda chief in the blasphemy case. The Akal Takht had pardoned the Dera Sacha Sauda chief in the blasphemy case after a written apology in 2015. Meanwhile, the Shiromani Akali Dal on Monday said there was no space for those leaders who had launched a programme against the party, saying party workers would not tolerate such elements.

Party leader Daljit Singh Cheema told the media after participating in a series of meetings here that leaders who were allowing themselves to be addressed as rebels of SAD did not attend the meetings even though an open invitation had been sent to all. "Now when they have launched an agitation against their own party, they are laying claim to hold meetings at the party office here. There is no space for them here." Cheema said that the party had a constitution and an elected president in Sukhbir Badal. "The President is elected through a democratic process as per laid down norms. The party office is also run as per the guidelines given by the President. You cannot challenge the leadership of the party President and then lay claim to the party office," he added. (IANS)

Surrey Hospitals Foundation Event Raises $218,346 for Youth Mental Health Programs

On Saturday, July 13, 2024, twenty-eight teams of paddle boarders gathered with local businesses for Surrey Hospitals Foundation's Champion of the Crescent event, presented by EllisDon. The annual paddle board relay tournament fundraiser was a resounding success, raising $218,346 for much-needed youth mental health programs in Surrey. Surrey Memorial Hospital is Fraser Health's regional centre for acute youth mental health services for children, youth, and young adults. Approximately 42% of BC's children and youth live in the region, which at close to two million residents is BC's largest health authority serving one-third of the province's population. Proceeds from Champion of the Crescent will go towards funding youth mental health programs such as music, art and recreational therapy. These programs have proven to have success in helping children navigate their inner thoughts and feelings and in providing holistic approaches to wellness and healing.

Towering new art installation at Hastings Park invites you to climb, sit and enjoy the view

Home + Away, a towering new sculpture commissioned by the City of Vancouver Public Art Program, is now open for all to enjoy at Empire Fields in Hastings Park. Described as "a slice of architecture," this playful 17-metre-high artwork in the form of stadium bleachers reflects the historic structures of Hastings Park, including the stands of Empire Stadium (1954-1993); the magnificent, scaffolded ski run that graced the site in the 1950s; and the locally famous 20th-century wooden roller coaster that is still a highlight of Playland. In addition to being visually striking, this artwork is intended to be ascended, sat on and experienced. It offers exciting experiences of height and views and provides 16 rows of seating for up to 49 people making for a unique spectator experience when watching events at Empire Fields. Home + Away was created by internationally celebrated Seattle artists Annie Han and Daniel Mihalyo of Lead Pencil Studio. Full details about the artwork are available on the City's website at Vancouver.ca/homeandaway.

Campfire ban is in effect throughout BC

VANCOUVER - Following a stretch of high temperatures and several heat warnings throughout the province, and with potentially challenging wildfire weather forecast, the BC Wildfire Service cellphone). Anyone found in contravention of an open-burning prohibition may be issued a violation ticket for $1,150, may be required to pay an administrative penalty

Residents and travellers should use caution and take steps to reduce the risk of wildfire by staying up to date on current conditions, follow fire bans and restrictions, and have an emergency plan.

To learn to learn more about fire bans and restrictions in B.C., visit: <https://www2.gov.bc.ca/gov/content/safety/wildfire-status/prevention/fire-bans-and-restrictions> implemented a campfire ban in all parts of B.C., except Haida Gwaii from at noon (Pacific time) on Friday, July 12, 2024. The ban will remain until further notice. The ban is being implemented to help prevent human-caused wildfires and help protect public safety. The category 1 (campfires) ban is in addition to current provincewide bans for category 2 and 3 fires. This means open fires of any size, except those licensed for prescribed burns, will be prohibited everywhere in B.C., outside of Haida Gwaii. Much of B.C. has seen very hot, and sometimes record-breaking, temperatures over the past week, prompting Environment Canada to issue heat warnings for many regions. While heat warnings have been lifted in some areas, the hot weather is predicted to continue for parts of the province, combined with the risk of high winds and lightning. To report a wildfire, unattended campfire, or open burning violation, use the BC Wildfire Service mobile app or call 1 800 663-5555 toll-free (*5555 on a

of up to $10,000 or, if convicted in court, may be fined up to $100,000 and/or sentenced to one year in jail. If the contravention causes or contributes to a wildfire, the person responsible may be ordered to pay all firefighting and associated costs. Currently, approximately 140 wildfires are burning in B.C. Given the weather forecast, the BC Wildfire Service is anticipating further wildfire starts, particularly in northern regions and parts of the Cariboo. Although southern portions of the province will be less adversely affected by this weather, the southern and central Interior may experience increased winds and isolated dry lightning. With a potential increase in wildfires comes an increased chance of evacuation alerts and evacuation orders, particularly in northeastern B.C. As of 7 a.m. on Thursday, July 11, there were two evacuation orders and three evacuation alerts in B.C. For the latest information about evacuation orders and alerts, visit: <https://www.emergencyinfobc.gov.bc.ca/>

Inside Anant Ambani-Radhika Merchant wedding: It was all about capturing Bollywood in its true elements

Anant Ambani and Radhika Merchant's wedding was like a grand party with lots of bling, music, and dancing. You could see sparkles everywhere! The wedding was a real international event, with famous people from all over the world coming to celebrate. Kim and Khloe Kardashian, John Cena, Nick Jonas, and Priyanka Chopra were there, as well as Bollywood stars like Shah Rukh Khan, Salman Khan, and Deepika Padukone. And there was a lot happening behind the scenes too, with a team of over 15 photographers trying to capture every moment of the grand celebration. After months of planning, the wedding festivities spanned across Gujarat, Mumbai, and even a cruise in Europe. It went on for five whole months. The couple got married on July 12 in Mumbai, and hosted a lavish reception on July 14. At the wedding, Rema and Fonsi performed their respective hit songs Calm Down and Despacito. Justin Bieber performed at the couple's sangeet ceremony. Rihanna was one of many performers at the three-day pre-wedding bash in March.

Now, Himanshu Patel, the founder of Epic Stories, who captured the whole thing on camera, spoke to us about the wedding, describing it as "witnessing a live movie, unscripted and exclusive, never to be screened anywhere else."

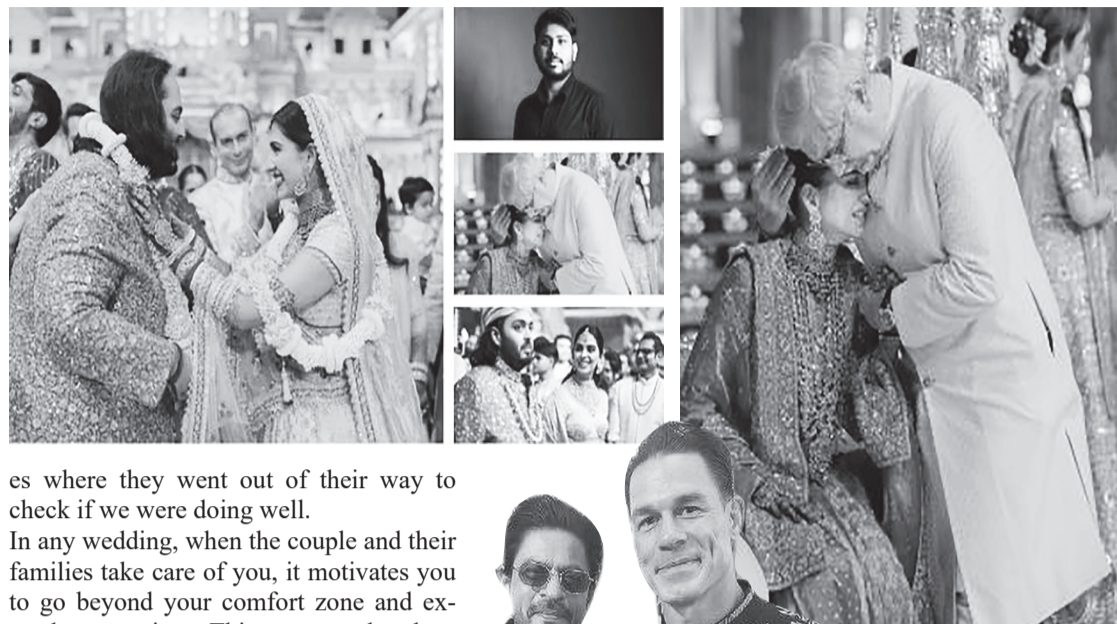

What was the most memorable moment you captured during Anant Ambani and Radhika Merchant's wedding celebrations? The most special moment I captured was a series of photos depicting the father walking the bride down the aisle. It was a bittersweet moment as her father beamed with pride mixed with a pang of separation. I have a series of photos capturing those authentic emotions. As they were about to reach Anant, Radhika, and her father shared a long hug, and at that moment, you could see a multitude of emotions in their eyes. While her father's eyes held an unspoken understanding, in Radhika's eyes, there was a spark of excitement for the future. This sequence of photos captured the full range of emotions of their special day- the love, the pride, the bittersweet beginnings. It's something I'll never forget.

How did you manage to capture the emotions and grandeur of the wedding, considering the high-profile guest list?

Beyond just photography, our main focus was to ensure the guests had a seamless experience. We had access to the front row, but out of respect for the guests and the ceremonies, we chose to shoot from a distance. For the first time, we used wildlife photography lenses (telephoto lenses) at a wedding, which allowed us to capture intimate emotions without intruding on the ceremonies.

Can you share your experience of working with the Ambani family and their team to ensure every moment was perfectly captured?

Both the Ambani and Merchant families are the sweetest to work with. We've been working very closely with them for over six months now. There were many instances where they went out of their way to check if we were doing well.

In any wedding, when the couple and their families take care of you, it motivates you to go beyond your comfort zone and exceed expectations. This was exactly what happened at this wedding. It wasn't just another event for us; it became a labour of love, driven by the heartfelt connections we built with both families.

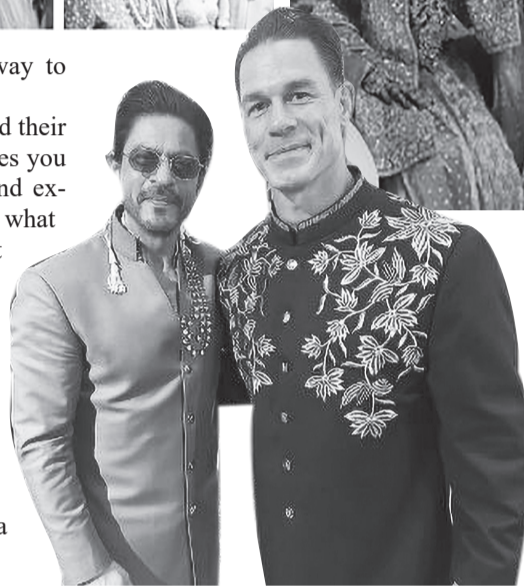

What were some of the unique photography ideas or themes that the couple requested for their special day?

The entire celebration was based on a Banaras theme, reflecting the sacred essence of this holy place. Since the theme was based on Banaras, our approach was to reflect the cultural heritage of India while also showcasing their modern love story. We included a series of candid, real moments filled with fun, love, and emotions leading up to each event. This approach beautifully documented the excitement and anticipation, adding a personal and authentic touch to all the photos.

What was the most challenging part of photographing this high-profile wedding, and how did you overcome it?

The most challenging part of photographing this high-profile wedding was managing the scale and complexity of the events. Additionally, it was crucial to be prepared and vigilant enough to quickly capture raw and emotional moments. Respecting the privacy of the guests and being discreet was of utmost importance. We needed to be invisible but present, capturing moments without disturbing the guests or ceremonies.

To achieve this, we stationed each team member at strategic locations and restricted unnecessary movements during the ceremonies. We anticipated key moments and used telephoto lenses to capture intimate scenes from a distance, allowing us to get closer shots without intruding. This approach ensured that we respected the guests' privacy while still capturing every beautiful moment. Were there any special requests or traditions that the couple wanted to incorporate into the photography?

Yes, there were several important aspects of photography that we focused on during this wedding. One of the most important requests from the couple was capturing the tiny, intimate moments of fun, love, and emotions that would become beautiful memories for a lifetime. The entire setting was mesmerising, and we wanted to ensure that our work reflected the rich cultural heritage of India.

Additionally, the family had a special request: they wanted the photos to be cherished long after the memories faded. They hoped these images would bring back all the experiences and emotions they felt during the wedding. This thoughtful request drove us to focus even more on capturing authentic, timeless moments that the couple and their families could look back on and relive for years to come.

How would you describe the three phases of celebrations from Jamnagar to the Cruise party to the Mumbai wedding?

Jamnagar was an opulent and systematically planned event, unlike anything we'd ever witnessed. Collaborating with numerous vendors, we strategized capturing the essence without disrupting the experience for the guests and the couple.

The cruise was a welcome change of pace. We documented candid moments, with a few fun events happening during port stops.

The final act in Mumbai was where the unexpected- wildlife lenses come in! This was physically demanding, sometimes positioned far away, running back and forth, and maintaining discretion. But the pictures made all these efforts worthwhile.

All these celebrations had a huge international presence, from Rihanna, and Justin Bieber to Kim Kardashian.... Were there any dos and don'ts?

With Rihanna performing in Jamnagar, Justin Bieber at the Mumbai event, and Kim Kardashian attending the wedding, it was crucial to respect their privacy. As professionals, we ensured to capture their presence in a discreet and respectful manner. There weren't strict dos and don'ts per se, but our approach was all about maintaining professionalism while capturing these iconic moments.

Was there a moment that surprised you?

While we captured many special moments, weddings themselves aren't full of surprises for us photographers. We know the flow of events. However, the couple definitely had some! For instance, the Katy Perry show on the cruise was a complete surprise for them. We had to be ready to capture their genuine reactions!

Lastly, what was it to capture both the Khans -- Shah Rukh and Salman?

Capturing both Shah Rukh Khan and Salman Khan, whom I've long admired from a distance, was truly a dream come true. It presented a unique challenge as these stars, familiar faces from Bollywood and beyond, were captured in their most natural and unguarded states. They weren't posing for the camera; instead, they were simply living in the moment, allowing me to capture their true essence. It felt like witnessing a live movie, unscripted and exclusive, never to be screened anywhere else. They remained in their true elements throughout, making each shot an authentic reflection of their presence.

She called America a heaven on Earth and sought blessings for voters.

"Dear Waheguru, our one true God, we thank you for creating America as a unique haven on this earth where all people are free to worship according to their faith. We seek your blessings and guidance for our beloved country. Please bless our people with wisdom as they vote in the upcoming election. And please bless with humility, honesty, skill, and integrity all those who conduct the election," she said.

Several other delegates joined Dhillon's poignant prayer with folded hands, bowed heads and closed eyes.

"We thank you for the 'Chardikala' spirit that we have witnessed in President Trump. That is the tireless and uplifting spirit that is sustained even in the face of violent adversity, like a founding father centuries ago. And we thank you, dear God, for protecting his life. We thank you for his examples of 'nirbhay'- fearlessness and 'nirvir' the absence of hate when faced with vitriol. These examples of extraordinary calm inspire us," she prayed. She concluded by praying for good spirits everywhere.

"May your name forever be exalted, spreading happiness and blessings and good spirit, that everyone may prosper and enjoy the grace of your peace. Thank you," she concluded.
